THE SINGULAR DEATH OF MRS. POMEROY. -The Cleveland Herald states that Mrs. Pomenov, the mother-in-law of Conductor R. E. MUERAY, and who was run over by the locomotive, died from heart disease, with which she was affected. On taking leave of her friends in Adrian, she bade farewell, as with the idea that she would never see them again. When standing on the double track at Caro, one of the couples was in advance of Mr. M. and Mrs. P. and another close behind them. Within a few feet of the track, Mrs. P. withdrew her arm from that of Mr. M., drew her shawl tightly around her, sank her body slightly, and then fell heavily across

Happily for humanity the passage was cleared up to the satisfaction of the licenser, and the immortal work appeared. What a mighty angle of joy and glory a little stupidity frequently subtends!

Crosss Union of Thursday has the following notice of the lively times in that thrifty city: notice of the lively times in that thrifty city:

In Town.—Wednesday was one of the busiest days ever seen in La Crosse. There were not less than two hundred teams in town, nearly all of them laden with grain, pork, hay, wood, hides, flour, chickens, and other little steeteras of the farm house. During the day we noticed teams from the Norwegian Ridge, Sholdon, Houston City, Caledonia, Brownsville, Hokah, Honey Creek, in Houston County, Minnesola. From this side were teams from Viroqua, Round Prairie, Coon Valley in Bad Ax, Trempeau and Galesville in Trempelean—also from every town in La Crosse (County.—This is only the first beginning. Two-thirds of the teams in yesterday were on wheels.—The traveling of course is heavy, and such only come in as have particular needs. Mr. M. sprang towards her and jerked her partially off, but her shawl came off in his grasp and he fell backwards into the mud. Before he could recover himself a locomotive had passed over her body. She was doubtless perfectly unconscious, if not dead, before the engine reached her.

Religious Progress in Europe.—A very interesting letter in the New York Christian Advocate & Journal states that the revival in Ireland continues and that a very general awakening is observable in the churches of England and Scotland. DEATH OF MR. SMEAD.—The Janesville

The fight with Doty was especially severe. Although the struggle was in the dark, and the prisoner was armed with both pistol and knife, the assault of the officers was so close, incessant and determined, that, though a man of unusual quickness and strength, the desperate villain was wholly unable to use his weapons with effect.

THE PROGRESS OF NON-INTERVENTION .-The movements of the South towards an entire cessation of all traffic with the North, lygo off in raptures over her voice and acting, but actually obstruct the stage with boquets, and then fall to fighting through the papers as to the propriety of dumping flowers by the ton upon the boards. The controversy is highly entertaining.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 21—3 P. M.

A special despetch from Columbia, dated the 19th inst., says that both houses have adopted a resolution that the South owes it to her own citizens to protect them from every enemy, and that for the purpose of military preparation for any emergency, the sum of $100,000 be appropriated.

The Senate also adopted a resolution that, while still deferring to her Southern sisters, she respectfully announces to them, in her judgment, that the safety and honor of the slave-holding States imperatively demand a judgment, that the safety and honor of the slave-holding Status imperatively demand a speedy seperation from the free soil States of the confederacy, and earnestly invites and urges her sister States of the South to originate a movement of Southern separation, in which she pledges herself promptly to unite.

hope that this evil will find a remedy; let us hope that this popular delusion will be temporary, will pass away, and a sound and fractornal spirit return; let us try to have it restored; let us try to make our Northern brethren love us again. I cannot believe that the great heart of the people North or South has upon it the guilty stain of treachery to this Union. I cannot believe that the people of the North have not regard for us, and no love for this government for which our fathers and their fathers which have been held there as signals of that returning love for us; let us receive them as such and with a grateful spirit let us encourage them, and we will yet find that the earnest and faithful spirit of our Northern brothers will be our surest protection and defence

Washburne, of Maine, and others on the Republican side objected to the reception of the resolution. Grow contended that only two motions were in order: either to proceed to vote, or adjourn. The discussion on the slavery question had been thrust on the House by those who cry out no agitation.—Representatives have sat here with closed lips while the grossest pervensions of their doctrines have been made by men who claim to be fair-minded. Now while we owe five millions to those who have performed service under written concrusts, and been waiting six months for their pay, it was proposed by the gentleman to go home and leave the government bankrupt.

He asked whether the government's plighted faith should be preserved above all to contractors who have rendered important services. They had been sitting here listening to speeches in substance which have appeared in the New York Herald for the last six months; that paper having furnished the the brains, while the discussion only lacks the spice and terseness of its style. Gentlemen here have been advertising Helper's book, which they cry is destructive to the peace and tranquility of the Union, and giring it wide circulation, which the Republican Committee had failed to do. If the book was an incendiary document as charged, and disturbed the peace of the country so much, those who have been discussing the Slavery question were responsible for it. Republicans ind not spread broadcast this book.

Davidson and several others reminded Mr. Grow that he had endorsed the reculation of Helper's compendium.

There is an earnest complaint of aggression and of threats of insurrection on the borders of some of our States; and John Brown's deeds at Rarper's Ferry have shown that this is no unreal greviance; and whence does it come? We find certain defined people in the Northern States that indulge in monanings over Slavery and they intersperse their lamentations with palms and prayers and appeals to their consciences, which are hurt, they say by our sins. It is a noteworthy fact that the Union-Saving Meetings in the Northern cities, although they lavish censure on men who have been loyal to the Union all their lives, do not utter a single word of rebuke to these Disunionists!

VIRGINIA SECRSSIONISTS .- The citizens of Louisa County, Virginia, held a "large meeting" at their Court House on the 12th inst., and

Resolved, That the election of William H. Seward, or of any member of the United States, ought to be immediately followed by the secession of all the Slaveholding States from this Confederacy, and the prevention of any organization of a Federal Administration under such a President.

Why do not the Northern Democrats pass rebuke on the utterance of these treasonable sentiments?

Mr. Larrabee of Wisconsin yesterday rebuked the North for aggressions on the South and charged the whole responsibility of the agitation on that section. Except Mr. Vallandigham's, it was the most abject demonstration yet made. He was very properly congratulated by Messrs. Barksdale and Davis of Mississippi, Mr. Crawford of Georgia, and others of that stripe.

What DO YOU PROPOSE TO DO ABOUT IT?—The Newson slarmed at the extent to which freedom of speech has been tolerated in this country, and says: "We doubt very much whether the people will again tolerate, as they have done in times past, such unlimit-ed licence of speech as Phillips and Cheever have seen accustomed to indulge in for years."

Now we would like to know what you propose to about it, Mr. News!-Madison Journal. Probably the News proposes to try "Mob Law" in order to put down "Free Speech." That is a favorite remedy at the South, but it would be dangerous to try such an experi

THE GREAT EASTERN .- The Albion says: The Great Eastern.—The Allion says:

"The commission upon the condition of the Great Eastern, has made a report to the effect that Mr. Russer's contract is not performed:—that the hull of the ship is not completed either as to the "general scope" or the "details of the contract" as a first-class passenger ship, and that, in her present state, it would be imprudent to send her to sea on a lengthened voyage—that, with the exceptions of excessive as to excite doubts of its genuineness. We want no simulated patrioism—no counterfeit loyalty. It is impossible that a lengthened voyage-that, with the exception of a few cabins, the accommodations either for passengers, or officers and crew, are by no means equal to the requirements of a firstclass passenger steamer, such as Cunard's line or the Royal West India Mail steamers. but are very inferior-materials, workmansiderable time to execute in an efficient manner, and, even with this done, the ship would not be what the contract requires her to be; and deficiencies in other respects would be a constant source of annoyance to the company. So passes her short-lived glory." RAILWAYS IN ENGLAND .- The London

News gives an approximating estimate of the dividends in some of the leading railway stocks, as compared with the same period last year. It is conjectured the Great Western will pay 3 or 3 1-2 instead of 2 1-2; Midland, 6 instead of 5 1-2; South-Eastern, 6 instead of 5; London and North-Western, 5 instead of 4 1-2; Lancashire and Yorkshire, 5 thousand copies for distribution among Southistead of 4, North-Eastern Berwick, 5 instead of 4, North-Eastern York, perhaps, 4 1-2 instead of 4. The same journal publishes the list of railway bills for the next Bession. The number is 173, or 22 more than last session.

But there is one treat during examination week which the citizens of Madison never, if possible, miss of-that is the examination of Dr. CARR's class in chemistry. Dr. CARR is not only a perfect master of his profession, but has the rarefaculty of making his pupils adepts, not in mysterious symbols that hide in the memory, but in facts that lie at the foundation of the science, and protrude into he gion of every-day life. His method of teaching is also peculiar to him, being not a vstem of memorizing, but of manipulation and lecturing. Each day some of the class have topics assigned them, upon which they lecture, in the same manner as a professor usually lectures, and quite as fluently and correctly. The examination is simply a series of lectures by the whole class, without a book to aid their memory or a hint of help from the professor. In this case the students acquitted themselves with great honor and skill; for out of several hundred experiments but one failed, and the readiness with which this failure was explained, showed better than the experiment could, the reality of the knowledge acquired. There is considerable gossip afloat in regard to the new appointees and deputies about the capitol. I understand that Mr. PICKARD has appointed A. J. CRAIG, editor of the

The latest Union demonstration in the city The latest Union demonstration in the city of Philadelphia has certainly not been of a character to merit the approbation of good men and honest citizens in any portion of the country. Unless the loyalty of the Philadelphians can be attested in some less objectional way than by stoning a building in which an Abolitionist lecturer is advertised to appear by think our neighbors had better to speak, we think our neighbors had better let their patriotism be suspected, than incur the reproach which such lawless proceedings are certain to entail. A mob like that which thered and raged around National Hall, on Thursday night, on the decession of Mr. Curtis' lecture, is scarcely in accordance with what should be the pacific character of the "City of Brotherly Love," and clearly in con-flict with the mild and tolerant tenets of its founder, Penn. If the action of the ten-thousand people who then and there assem-bled to testify their disapprobation of the sentiments of the lecturer, savored somewhat of mob violence, and recalled passages in the past history of Philadelphia, which were best when soonest forgotten, the course of the when soonest forgotten, the course of the Mayor and Sheriff—of the former in ordering a flag to be removed which was suspended in front of a building in which an Abolitionist Fair was being held, and of the latter in attempting to break up the Fair altogether, partook strongly of the character of official persecution. Neither proceeding was calculated to promote the cause it was intended to serve and both, therefore, were unwise.

We may and doubtless will be referred to the beam which is in our own eye, and have our good counsels repaid with the injunction, "Physician, heal thy-self."

But the disgrace of Baltimore does not lessen the shame of Philadelphia. We have counterfeit loyalty. It is impossible that Philadelphians can take the same pleasure I mindelphians can take the same pleasure in mobbling an Abolitionist lecturer, or have the same motive for resorting to extreme measures to prevent the dissemination of An-ti-Slavery principles, that men would expe-rience in an interior village of North Carolina or Tennessee. Once make martyrs of the Abolitionists, and their cause will spread with ten-fold rapidity. It is not merely the Saxon love of fair play and that honest hatrod of oppression and sympathy with the oppressed, which we believe to be part of human nature, at its best estate, which will contribute to this result. It is also one of the perversities of our nature that error, when discountenanced and discouraged by laws and governments, and least difficulty in adding to their number. The history of all forms and shapes of fanaticism attests the truth of this observation, which is best embodied in a proverb too tritle for quotation. Not only, therefore, was the course of the Philadelphia authorities and populace wrong—it was impolitic. The South will suffer more from such manifestations of an outbreak of mob violence in a sister city, we are aware that we expose conselves to that thus expressing ourselves in condemnation of an outbreak of mob violence in a sister city, we are aware that we expose ourselves to that they are aware that we expose ourselves to the close. CAMPAU'S BODY FOUND!-No MARKS of Violunce.—The long suspense that has well nigh distracted the friends and family of the missing J.Barnatas Campan, is at length at an end! His body was drawn upfrom the bottom of the river at the foot of Bates street at noon to day by a laboring man usined John Gorton, who had been searching for the body with a long fork attached to a long handle, with a long fork attached to a long handle, for the past two days.

The body was immediately removed to an adjoining ware house, and carefully examined by Dr. Axford. No marks of violence were found upon his head or any part of his body. His gold watch and all the money in gold and bills that he was known to have, were found in his pookets. The watch had stopped at one minute before one o'clock, whether itrun down or was stopped by his falling into the river, is not yet ascertained. If the latter, it indicates the time of the unfortunate man's

Justice Enwold held an inquest, caused the body to be identified, took possession of the effects found upon his person, and received the testimony of the physician as to the condition of the body, when the inquest was adjourned till to-morrowalt-rnoon, and the body was given into the care of his friends. There is now no doubt—and we had none from the first, although we have been careful in the expression of our views—that Mr. Campau, while under the maddening influence of excessive drinking, either wandered about and fell into the river, or plunged in when incapable of knowing the nature of the act or its consequences. He evidently did not commit suicide.—Detroit Tribune, 20th.

Recovering Damages. The following from the Cincinnati Gazette

Some people on the line of the different railroads are very much incensed when any of their cattle or horses are run over, and "come down" on the Company for the damages. That, too, when they are the only persons to blame for the disrster, and when much more damage is done to the Company than to them.

In a good many cases the owners have con-

DRESERVES. A VARIED ASSORT-

THE SPRIG OF LAVENDER

'Tis a faded sprig of Lavonder, in nowise worth the Yet I prize it above other things, though valueless For she's far off that gave it me, where clouds are calm-

The little hand that gave it, with the tiny fairy fingers, With togenes imperceptible, has solen all my heart, Oh I frankly does she offer it, and ofted times it lingers Right lovingly within my own, where'er we meet or part. Yes, she is fair and gentle, and her voice is low and tender
As the whisper of a summer wind, or distant streams

And may good angels guard her well, and sunniest mo-ments send her. Will ever be my prayer for her when I am far away. And thoughts of her bring thoughts of home, and all I've left behind me:
And then my thoughts go wandering in the mansions of the Past.
And little is the Lavender then needed to remind me How happy hours, like summer flowers, must fade and perish fast.

nd yet I keep the Lavender, and when again I meet I'll show her how I've kept it, and she'll turn away her head;
And blushing, say, I'm foolish; but can anything be sweeter
Than to see the blushes rising o'er her check so rosy-

One Copy, one year. Self live Copies, one year THE DIMENUTION OF RAIN.—The follow-ng remarks on the cause and consequences of the diminution of rain in all countries, by tions of the respiratory organs, the uncommon emigration of animals and fishes from distant climates, the frequent boreal reflection of the sun, and several other indications which of the sun, and several other indications which would require volumes to describe. One universal blessing, however, will ensue, and that will be the diseppearance of the potato disease. All bulbous plants, if for many years reproduced by bulbs, and not by cultivation of seeds, lose a great deal of their saccharine and floury substance, and incline to an unleastly formentation of the juice of the plants, which during continuous rain, attract certain atmospheric animalcule, and which penetrate into the plants to metamorphose, and thus produce an almost invisible maggot, which, at its maturity, descends from the stalk into the bulb, and causes the potato disease. If, during an interval of dry and hot weather, the fermentation referred to is prevented, the disease will surely disappear. This result has been established on the Continent, where sandy soil is prevalent, principally in Mark Brandenberg, in Prussia, where, by order of the government, extensive trials were instituted and produced the said effect. Agriculturists ought to improve the cultivation of notators by the scede and their

KEEPING SWEET POTATOES .- A pondent of the Oskaloosa Herald gives his method of keeping sweet potatoes through the winter:

I use dry sand to put them up in—it don't matter how the sand is dried, in a kiln, in a log-heap, or in the sun, so it is dry; that is all that is required. I profer drying in a log heap, as it costs at least four times less, and is just as good. Any family that has a little room with a stove in it; may keep a box or two of eight or ten bushels without much inconvenience. The boxes must be raised six or eight inches from the floor, and they must convenience. The boxes must be raised six or eight inches from the floor, and they must not be nearer than four inches of the wall.—

Fill the box with potatoes, and then put in sand. I have also known them kept well in brokwheat chaff. In order to keep potatoes with success, there must be a thermometer kept in the room. The mercury must not sink below 40 deg; it it does, the potatoes will chill and rot; it also must not rise above 100 deg or then will come. I never less above will chill and rot; it also must not the door 60 deg., or they will grow. I never lost any of my poistoes, only by letting the room get too cold. A thermometer only costs a dollar, and every man ought to have one.

HEAVES IN HORSES, -- As there are a grea HEAVES IN HORSES.—As there are a great many horses in the country afflicted with the heaves, and it is a true saying that "an ounce of preventive is better than a pound of cure" we give a preventive which has succeeded well for the last fitteen years. It is in feeding the hay in racks, instead of mangers or boxes, which has been the practice of most farmers in this country. The horse fed on hay ma box has his head over the heav from which has affecting exists. hay, from which by agitation, arises a fine dust or smoke, which the horse is constant-ly inhaling, and which causes a cough," and his finally becomes permanent heaves. The corse fed in a rack well elevated, frees the lay from dust by drawing it through the cack—and the air carries it off above his head, as the dust which affects the horse most !

The Boy Farmers.—A Maine paper tells a good story of two boys, one thirteen and the other eleven, who, on accountly the sickness of their father, were left to work the farm. They thoroughly plowed and crossplowed three acres of rather rough ground, which they sowed, and then harrowed it three times over. They also assisted in clearing one acre of new land, which was sown with wheat. It grew well, especially that first sown, but at harrest the father being still sick, there was once to gather the grain but these two little lads. Having neither strength nor skill to use the cradle, they grasped the sickle with resolute hand and reaping what they could each day, persevered until the whole four acres were thus harvested by them alone. The produce of this crop would command in market $185, this crop would command in market $135, and they did a good deal of business on the farm beside. This shows what boys can do if they really set about it, and make work of rock and play of play-not trying to do

WHAT THE PEOPE WANT.—No great public want can long remain unanswered. When a condition of things has become developed so that a great public want is realized, either in theology, civil government, or physios, that very want or demand is sure to create a supply. The hour will create the man, and the need the thing. Witness the sewing machine, the reaper, the telegraph. There may be several abortions. Many may run before they are sent, but ultimately humanity will triumph, and the want be supplied.

It cannot be that Medicine will long remain what it has been—a mass of intricacies, of which those who know most know little, while the confident pretender is sure to be a which those who know most know little, while the confident pretender is sure to be a knave. Nor will it be always a system so intricate and obscure that only the priests of the temple can speak its language or interpret its symbols; or an oracle so equivocal that he who consults the priest fares as ill or worse than he who abjures the temple altogether. There must err long he a existence or worse than he who abjures the temple altogether. There must ere long be a system that comes down to the wants of humanity in every day-day life—that meets the wants of the mother at her cradle, the nurse at the bedside, the father on his journey, or the sailor on the sea. Something or some system that everybody can have, and everybody can use, to arrest the first invasion of disease, and to restore the ruddy current of life ereits fountains are vitiated and its forces undermined.

Old school medicine, with its crude drugs and poisons, can never meet this want. That is a game long since played out, a thing well is a game long since played out, a thing well is a game long since played out, a thing well is a game long since played out, a thing well is a game long since played out, a thing well is a game long since played out, a thing well onderstood. Equally fatile the vaunted panaceas and elixirs which ignorance has begotten and folly sustained. The water-cure can never be more than a doubtful expedient or useful pallative in the hands of the propie November 1997. the people. ECONONY OF CHEMISTRY.—The Chemistry of Art, like a prudent housewile, economises every scrap. The horse-shoe nails dropped in the streets during the daily traffic, are carefully collected by her, and re-appear in the form of swords and guns. The clippings of the traveling tinker are mixed with the parings of horse-hoofs from the smithy, or the cast-off woolen garments of the poorest inhabitants of a sister isle, and soon afterwards, in the form of dies of the brightest blue, grace the dress of courtly dames. The main ingradient of writing ink, was, possibly, once part of the broken hoop of an old beer ECONOMY OF CHEMISTRY .- The Chemistry once part of the broken hoop of an old beer barrel. The bones of dead animals yield the chief constituents of indier matches. The dregs of port wine, carefully rejected by the dregs of port wine, carefully rejected by the port wine drinker, in decanting his favorite beverage, are taken by him in the morning in the form of seidlitz powders, to remove the effects of his debauch. The offal of the streets, and the washings of coal gas, re-appear, carefully preserved, in the lady's smelling bottle, or are used to flavor blunc manges for her friends. This economy of the Chemistry of Art is only in instance. istry of Art is only in imitation of what we observe in the Chemistry of Nature. Animals live and die; their dead bodies, passing into putridity, escape into the atmosphere, whence plants again mould them into forms of or-ganic life; and these plants, actually consisting of a past generation, form our present food.—Dr. Lyon Pluyfair.

Napoleon's Court at Complegue amuses taelf with parlor theatricals, in which the NAPOLEON'S Court at Complegne anuses itself with parlor theatricals, in which the Empress is very charming, only she has a chronic difficulty with the letter r. The behavior of the Empress at the Council of Ministers is worth observing. The most abstruce and driest questions are listened to by her Majesty with the greatest appurent attention. She always comes armed with pencil and with paper, and takes down notes with the prettiest pedantry in the world. It is true that the fair and snowy hands, as if rebellious against the thankless office, are continually occupied in sliding to and fro the rings upon her fingers, and in turning and twisting the bracelets on her wrists, whose pretty little Chinese jingle formed so founy an accompaniment to the reading of the report upon the Peiho expedition the other day, that the grave seignors all laughed aloud, and the Emperor joined good humoredly in the merriment, and selving her majesty's hand, kissed it rapturously, making the funny little bells with which the bracelet was hung all around ring out a more joyous peal than ever. So you see all is not prose and dry discourse at our Cabinet Councils; the presence of woman calivers even these pedry discourse at our Cabinet Councils; the presence of woman enlivers even these pedantic meetings.

CINCINNATI MARKET DECRMBER 20TH .- Hogs possesses

Cincinnati Market, Dzemmer 20th.—Hogs possessed in the morning much of the nerve acquired yesterday, and stood firmly for an advance, but buyers, for some cause, hard to understand in view of the previous course of the market, became rather resolute in their recions about declining to meet a further advance of much so that the report of an unusually small number of hogs received had no effect in tempting them to yield to the extra demand of holders. However, it should have been said that the figure at which the stand was made was about $6.59 for 200 fbs. averages, as this price had fairly become so for such weight.

It is singular that the market has really had most spirit when teceipts were largest.

Prices have ranged from $6 for 15 fb averages to $5.50 for 200 fb weights. At this date had year 200 fb weights. At this date had year 200 fb weights had run up to 305,305. We are now in excess of those flywes 12,000 or 14,060 head, with very indefinite basis for calculations as to what they may continue to be from this on. Many are sincere in the expectation of a suiden chopping off of receipts, and think that the report of to-day, 2,712 head, is an index for what the remainder of the shadon will be; but there is fully as much cause to expect a confluention of the business to quite an indefinite period as there was last year, particularly so if packers choosa to receipt as merchaniable hoosa, animale which should be fod for a year to come before marketing. As to other points in the West, but little can yet be gathered concerning the number of beg packed except at $1. Lonls, Lonlsville and Chicago, at the first a gain.

THE STEAMSHIP MILWAYERE COMEG TO CHICAGO FOR REPAIRS, — A dispatch was received here yesterday from the owners of the Milwayere and Grand Haven steamer Milwayere, saling if there was a dry-dock here large enough to receive her. It was answered that the dry-dock of Mesyrs, Miller and Doollite, on the North Branch, was of sufficient capacity, and it has been since announced that this fine steamer, which lately had so narrow an ereape from destruction on the beach of Grand Haven, will reach this port to-day.— The steam tag McQueen is to turn out as an ise-breaker, and open the way up the river for the Milwayer. Welearn that the vessel is not much injured, and will come out as good as new from the hands of our Chicago shipwrights.—Chicago Press & Tribane of yesterday.
